Sandra Janssen

With my social intelligence I can empathise well and understand what people want and expect. I have a fascination for people and the stories they carry with them. I apply this in my work through book design and illustrations. This has always been a guiding principle in my work as a designer.

Besides that I am a big 'regelmiepje'. I have a big passion for organisation, planning, leading a team and than work together to close the circle. Just leave all your projects to me and I'll make sure that the process will go smoothly. I promise!
